WE NOMINATE

Philip Axtell Crowl, a long-working member of the Department of State's Bureau of Intelligence and by instinct and training a tough-minded analyst of human affairs, who this summer has laid the groundwork for one of the major historical undertakings of the decade, The John Foster Dulles Oral History Project. As a restive world slithers from one crisis to the next, and with the Far East today reverberating with echoes of Secretary Dulles' well-popularized "brinkmanship", the about-to-be-59 Crowl has organized an undertaking which over the next several years can be expected to throw new light on the foreign relations of the United States during the middle reaches of the 20th Century.

While there is nothing strikingly new about "oral history", starting with recorded interviews and continuing through the tedious process of producing and editing transcripts, few scholarly enterprises have been more carefully plotted than the Crowl-directed Dulles Project. Over the past six months, on leave from his State Department duties, this former Princetonian has shuffled from his quarters in the University's Firestone Library to interviews with such leaders as President Eisenhower and France's Pierre Mendes-France and has arranged for intensive, top-level coverage of world and national figures in such widely separated centers as Auckland, Tel Aviv, Berlin, Seoul and London.

The Ohio-born Crowl, a member of the University's Department of History in the 1940's and a Research Associate here in the 1950's, was last associated with Secretary Dulles in the Department of State. In 1950, when Mr. Dulles started assembling the papers that were to come to Princeton at the time of his death and now constitute one of the major "working collections" in the Dulles Library of Diplomatic History, Crowl was given the task of helping the Secretary select the 1,000's upon 1,000's of official documents that were to be microfilmed for transfer to Princeton under security safeguards prescribed by The White House.

A member of the Class of 1936 at Swarthmore, who took his advanced degree at the State University of Iowa and John Hopkins, Crowl interrupted his Princeton teaching career for World War II service with the Navy. He commanded an infantry landing craft, weathered three tugged Pacific invasions, earned the Silver Star, and returned to write with the late Jeter Allen Isely one of the most remarkable volumes of military history yet published. This was the widely known "The U.S. Marines and Amphibious War," the first "scientific study" of a basic doctrine of bloody warfare as it was evolved to meet the life-and-death demands of combat.

In much the same way that the Dulles Oral Project represents an unusual partnership between scholars and policy-makers in government, the Crowl-Isely analysis of 1951 was a new kind of working agreement between qualified historians and the Armed Forces. The work, including unvarnished accounts of brutally bungled campaigns in the Solomons as well as spectacular successes elsewhere, was actually sponsored by the Marine Corps with the express contractual provision that the Corps Commandant "will have no competence to alter or modify the findings of the authors or the conclusions reached in the study."

For launching a venture which is expected to be of far-reaching value to historians in the future; for seeking fresh insights and clues which could well be forever lost with the passing of Secretary Dulles' contemporaries; for adding a "third dimension" to the study of often confusing documentary history, he is

This Is PRINCETON

THE WOMAN WHO WORKS
And Many Do. "Now that the children are a little older, I'd like to get some kind of job."

Princeton, like other communities, has a growing number of wives and mothers in what statisticians like to call the labor market; in fact, the kaffe klatch in a neighbor's kitchen on Erdman Avenue has been almost entirely replaced by the 15-minute coffee break in the ETS cafeteria.

Wives and mothers in Princeton work everywhere at everything: they clerk in stores and teach school. They run decorating shops and hold down responsible executive positions in big organizations. They work in University laboratories as technicians, and in RCA laboratories as scientists. They stay home and write successful free-lance stories and they commute to New York to teach art.

Many of them—but not nearly enough—to hear the personnel directors tell it—are secretaries. "Good secretaries are sorely needed," is the heartfelt comment of Miss Marjorie Mason of the University personnel office. And her counterparts at other personnel desks agree.

Even in Princeton, it is surprising to learn how many truly professional women there are, women who pack off one child to Nassau Street School, one to Witherspoon and one to the high school, and then, somehow, get to work themselves on time, hoping that they do not find during the day that ominous message in the typewriter: "School nurse called. Please call her back right away."

At RCA, thought to be a male stronghold, about one-fifth of the employees are women and a high number of these are professionals.

One woman, two years at RCA, has a Master's in chemical engineering and a job in the astro-electronics applied research division. The mother of two children has spent seven years at RCA as a mathematician, and the mother of three has worked for three years in the materials research lab. A research physicist has won a doctoral study award so that she can study this fall toward her Ph.D.

These women, by the way, are paid on the same scale as their male counterparts.

"We have always had to have equal pay for women in order to attract the profession—35—that's the general labor market picture throughout the land, of the RCA personnel department.

Women scientists work for the University, too, about 30 of them. Sometimes they come right out of college but often, they are "just housewives" with a B.A. in science. And even with a gap in time, they peak period of work and drop ease into their jobs without too much difficulty. Brushing up isn't return the following year.

"Women at ETS do, as a general rule, somewhat different work from the men," Mrs. Nevins explains, "and they are not, with very few exceptions, in our heavy administrative positions. It's just that men can give us a longer, steadier period in their lives."

The great employee pool for the Princeton employer is the one composed of graduate students' wives. The best investment a boy can make is to marry a girl who's a crack-jack secretary: the minute she moves into Princeton, she's got the children in high school, and probably a good one for as long as she wants it.

She moves into a small "project" apartment gets a job for herself and gives one to her husband.

See neighbor by hiring the mother to take care of the baby while she goes off to work.

"Taking care of baby" is the great and classic problem of the working mother. The graduate student's wife who can help out another graduate student's wife in the manner indicated above, has solved the problem in a tidy manner.

Usually, a woman will not work full time until the chicks are at least past year out of the nest, but often there is an economic alternative. For these and other women, the very cornerstone and keystone of life itself, is the day-care "mother."

Mrs. Marie Bird Petrone, for example, has been taking care of "working" children in her home for more than 15 years. One young man arrives each morning at 7:15, says good-bye to mother, runs out to the big, comfortable play-yard in back, and puts her happily until mother comes back for him at the end of the working day.

The number of working mothers who have been sustained by Mrs. Petrone is varied and incalculable: a hairdresser, a nurse, teachers with out number, a business executive. If a child goes to morning kindergarten, she will take him in the afternoon. The combinations are endless.

"I've never known a child Mrs. Petrone can't cope with," says one alumna mother, "she is a warm, remarkable, first-rate woman."

"We take a very dim view of hiring a woman if she has no specific, concrete plans for

Round-Up

How's the supply of dimes in your piggy bank? Ten-cent pieces are in scarce here that one store, Cox's, has a sign on its cash register which says, in effect, "Brother, can you spare a dime?"

The head teller at Princeton Bank and Trust Company, John McLoughlin, says that the Federal Reserve bank which supplies needed coins and currency hasn't shipped any dimes into this area since mid-July. Soft-drink and other coin machines are to blame, especially where the tenth part of a dollar is concerned.

In addition to the $3,000 burglary on Murven Place (see Topics of the Town) minor thefts of various kinds were reported last week.

A bagful of laundry owned by Paul Burner was stolen from the front porch at 135 Bayard Lane.

The pay telephone in booth at Princeton Hospital was rifled on Saturday — loss undetermined.

A 40-foot extension ladder was taken from the construction site at the Princeton Inn, where a new wing is nearing completion.

The sum of $7.75 in coin was taken from the caddy shack at Springdale Golf Club as soft drink proceeds removed under cover of night.

As might be anticipated, the Mercer County Republican Committee is split over Sen. Goldwater's nomination. This week, it was temporarily leaderless following the resignation of its chairman, Jack Silvestri, who said he could not back the GOP candidate for president and was quoted as being deeply concerned over Sen. Goldwater's "racist supporters."

A three-way battle for the vacant chair may develop in the next ten days among Edward B. Hollander, both Trenton lawyers, and William Schluter of Princeton. All three are pro-Goldwater. A new chairman will be elected August 24.

Before the thermometer and the humidity edged upward again last mid-week, minimum readings set August records here. Officially, the Weather Bureau reports, there were three all-time lows recorded last week, with the coldest Tuesday's 54.

In outlying areas, however, the temperature dipped to within 15 degrees of freezing, or, more specifically, 47 on Sunday morning, six days earlier (Monday, August 3), the thermometer never rose above 62. Maximum reading during the past week was 84.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes spent his 50th birthday Monday in Atlantic City, watching the races and welcoming early arrivals to the forthcoming Democratic Convention. His own celebration will be dwarfed by plans he is making for President Lyndon Baines Johnson's 57th birthday, which will also be observed in Atlantic City.

According to schedule, that's the day when the President will accept his party's nomination as its candidate for 1964. The U.S. To mark the occasion, Gov. Hughes has helped arrange a fireworks display, highlighted by a parachute diving act of a plane singing, "Happy Birthday."

Revised "Almanac" Ready

"Almanac for Newcomers," the article which originally appeared in TOWN TOPICS two years ago and has since gone through more than 6,000 reprints, has been revised and updated.

Serving as an introduction for new residents to the community in which they have come to live, "Almanac" was widely acclaimed as a charming informative piece of journalism.

The original version, and now the revised edition, have been made available as a public service by the Princeton Bank and Trust Company.

Business firms, real estate agencies and others in early touch with newcomers to the Princeton area are invited to reserve copies of the booklet in quantity. Requests should be made to TOWN TOPICS, 924-2200.

One story in Topics of the Town, page 16, speaking of memory, what was the year that the Princeton Shopping Center and parking lot both arrived on the Princeton scene? You'll find the answer in "Going Back" page 20, let together with a glimpse of other bygone developments of the Princeton years.

What sort of help can Princeton's 1964 football team expect from the sophomore class? The second of TOWN TOPICS' annual summer series on the Tigers' gridiron prospects appears on page 23.

A pharmacy is sold, another store plans to move — the quarterly report on stock quotations of Princeton area industrial firms — see listings in Princeton, page 19.

Thursday night's meeting of the Township Zoning Board at which the proposed swimming pool complex in the Princeton Shopping Center will be debated is already the subject of discussion in Mailbox, page 9.

This Is Princeton

"taking care of her children," warns Miss Mason.

But concrete, specific plans are not always so. The most reliable grandmother in the world can break her hip, and what do you do about vacations?

The working mothers of Princeton took a realizing blow when Borough and Township schools decided that boys and girls needed a one-week's winter vacation to February. In summer, there are camps, and in those camps between the end of school and the beginning of camp, and the end of camp and the beginning of school, you can hold your breath and let the kids play outside unattended. Christmas alone is enough to keep a child busy, but what can you do in February?

One mother simply called Youth Employment Service and hired a high-school-age baby sister who was also out on winter vacation. A second mother said sternly to her daughters, "If anybody asks you over, GO! I don't care who it is, or whether you like them or not, accept any invitation you get."

In spite of occasional calls from the school psychologist asking for a conference, most working mothers find that children adjust without difficulty to the extra paycheck in the house. Many children, even young ones, respond with verve to the additional responsibilities imposed on the family of a working mother. Makes them feel grown-up. Besides, when other kids' mothers have jobs, it's a natural and accepted thing. And talk about one-upmanship! How, anybody, beat, "My mommie's a physician at RCA!"

RATE INCREASE ASKED
By Water Company. The Princeton Water Company has asked the Public Utilities Commission to approve a rate increase.

The request, filed this Wednesday morning with the PUC in Trenton, would add about $1.35 each month to the water bill of the average Princeton family, according to company spokesmen. The last water rate increase was granted eight years ago.

The PUC must set a date for public hearing on the request, but the date will probably not even be set until sometime in September. The increase, if approved, is not expected to go into effect for several months.

Under its proposed new plan, the company would raise the minimum quarterly rate from $3.35 to $6, and at the same time increase the minimum amount of water from 500 cubic feet per quarter to 500 cubic feet.

Loss foreseen. The company is also asking for increase in the fire hydrant rate now paid by Borough and Township, but Robert E. Keane Jr., president of Elizabethtown Water Company, which acquired the Princeton company early last year, said in announcing the rate request, that these charges will be more than offset by the additional gross receipts and franchise taxes which Borough and Township will receive under the new rates.

Under present rates, Mr. Keane said the company would be operating at a loss by 1965. When Elizabethtown bought the Princeton water system, the company was not earning what Elizabethtown felt to be an adequate rate of return. No dividends had been paid since 1962.

By the end of 1965, Mr. Keane estimated "more than $700,000 will have been spent on upgrading and improving the Princeton system."
"The major problems in Princeton have now been solved," Mr. Keane stated. "In 1962, Princeton customers were receiving only 3.57 million gallons of water on the peak day, and even this resulted in serious restrictions and shortages. This summer, 5.22 million gallons were sent to customers on the peak day, and there were no restrictions except for a minor curtailment in the Pretty Brook section caused by a broken main."

Water - Minded Town. Mr. Keane also pointed out that Princeton customers demand more water than those in any other community served by Elizabethtown. "We expect fully to meet these demands," Mr. Keane added. "The rate increase will enable us to re-establish the company's financial integrity and permit the attraction of additional capital necessary for further expansion and improvement."

Improvements scheduled for 1965 include an upgrading of equipment at the Stony Brook filter plant, completion of the telemetry control system, clean-up at the Pretty Brook and Red Hill booster pumping stations, and the elimination of "dead ends," to improve the distribution system in the northeast part of company territory near Route 206. In addition, several new wells will be drilled in 1965 and in each year thereafter, said James Girard, vice-president for engineering at Elizabethtown.

In the past 18 months, the company has installed telemetry equipment to check storage tank levels and to operate pumps remotely; rehabilitated the Harrison Street Field, which was out of service early in 1962; increased the Stony Brook filter plant capacity; built new major pipelines, obtained approval for the use of additional canal water and drilled new wells.

MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD
For Civil Rights Workers. A sizeable crowd gathered in front of First Presbyterian Church Sunday to join the Princeton Pastors' Association in tribute to the three civil rights workers whose bodies have been found near Philadelphia, Miss.

The memorial service was led by the Rev. Albert M. Tyson Jr. of Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church. The Rev. Charles Newberry of All Saints' Chapel, Trinity Parish, and the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson of Witherspoon Presbyterian, Decision to hold the 12:30 service was reached on Friday, and announcements were made at the worship services. The crowd included young and old, Negro and white, nuns and clergy.

A statement from the pastors was read by the Rev. Mr. Tyson.
"The discovery of the three murdered bodies of Michael (T. Schwerner, Andrew Goodman and James E. Chaney confirms our worst fears and is an occasion of grief for all men of decency. It is doubly grievous to those of us who believe that every life is sacred to its Creator."

"We believe that the cause for which they labored is consonant with the will of God, and that we share in the blame for allowing such a criminal act to occur. We are grieved for their families who sustain the loss of bright promise of their lives; yet we know that they went intelligently into the field of battle prepared to give their lives for human justice and dignity."

"We pray for their murderers, we pray for the system that allows the blindness of ignorance and fear to shut out the eternal values of the Creator, we pray for the recreants who under the cover of darkness unleashed the venom of a two-faced democracy; and we pray for the redemption of our country."

"We have a common heritage with these boys; they gave their lives to insure equal access to that heritage for all men. We will assemble to affirm our unity with them and to recall how precious these values — human justice and dignity — are, and to shake off the complacency that makes them die by default. We hereby openly declare that we deplore the conditions that separate us and make us cruelly neglect our human concerns, and we commit ourselves to be living memorials to their sacrifices by our gifts and interest."

NO GARAGE

Council vs. Zoning Board. There will be no public garage at 36-38 Moore Street. Borough Council turned its back Tuesday night on the recommendation of the zoning board and decided, 4-1, not to grant the variance required before a public garage could be built. The dissenter was Elwood P. Godfrey, Councilman Joseph R. Strayer was absent.

The Moore Street address is in a residential zone, and serves as the non-conforming home for the garbage-collecting equipment and trucks of a disposal company. Frank Perkins, owner of the land, wants to tear down an old barn on the property and convert it to a public garage. The zoning board went along with his idea.

Reporting the current audit of Borough books, Councilman Elwood Godfrey told Council on Tuesday night that the Borough is now worth $83,459,269.33 net.

Under a new state statute, this means that the Borough has a $2 million raise in borrowing capacity. Dr. Godfrey said, adding hastily that the Borough did not plan to use its new limit right now or all at once.

He also reported that all 1963 taxes have been collected. "This is the first time I can recall that all taxes have been in as early as this," Dr. Godfrey observed.

and recommended that Mayor and Council grant the variance.

However, residents of the area, the organization, "Residents of Princeton" and a number of Council, do not like the idea of a public garage in a residential zone, and the fact that 36-38 Moore Street has heard for some years now the rumble of garbage trucks, is not enough.

"A non-conforming use is not a perpetual easement allowing one property owner a use which is forbidden to others," stated Fred English, attorney for Residents of Princeton. "Non-conforming uses should gradually decrease," he said, "not be encouraged to increase."

Monopoly? "Actually, such an owner has an economic advantage, a kind of monopoly," commented Councilman Alan Carrek, "because he can use his property as others cannot. Some states, in fact, require the gradual liquidation of non-conforming uses."

Mayor Henry Patterson suggested that it might be better to fix up a non-conforming garage than to let it gradually decay away, and Mr. Perna had indeed announced his intention of tearing down the old barn.

"You would be removing an eyesore, but at least a quiet eyesore," replied David Friedman & Madison, "and replacing it with something presentable enough to look at, but much noisier."

"The traffic generated by a public garage on that street would be much greater than what is there now," observed Councilman William H. Walker, and it was Mr. Walker who made the motion that closed the garage door.

"A public garage would be a change from the present use, would be contrary to the zoning ordinance and a detriment to the neighborhood," Mr. Walker said, and everyone but Dr. Godfrey agreed.

Stay for the Fun. About 15 members of the 46th Maine came to the meeting and, as Mayor Patterson observed with pleased surprise just before adjournment, stayed after the Moore Street business to hear what Council did next.

"Next" was the appointment of Kenneth Randall, 69 Alexander Street, to the Borough Housing Authority, succeeding Philip Adams whose term expires August 15. Mr. Randall is assistant head of Princeton University's rental office.

Council also named an additional police officer to the Borough police force. He is Donald Forward who served before on the force, resigned, and has now come back. His appointment, effective September 1, will bring the Borough force to 25 men.

Officer Charles R. Soerling was cited by Sergeant Howell McVeeney for spotting, while on duty, four juveniles whose arrest cleared up a number of crimes on the Borough docket.

Gratto to Stay. Mayor Patterson told Council that Gabriel Gratto, owner of The Gratto restaurant, had withdrawn his request for a parking variance so that he could move to 194 Nassau, and also has requested for a transfer of his liquor license to 141 The Gratto. Grotto will remain at 18 Witherspoon.

Twelve residents of Park Place, Moore Street and Nassau protested by letter the possibility of high bright lights in the Sands Building 194 Nassau again parking lot, reached by a driveway off Moore Street. They were reassured by Borough engineer Thomas Caskey, who said he could probably satisfy their situations.

Park Place remained on the floor when Mr. David Friedman told Council that the Park Place lot needed evergreen screening to conceal cars, blacktop and the backdoors of Nassau Street stores from homes on Park and Madison.

Mr. Caskey promised a September report.

And again, 1 Grigor, 46 Park Place, said he had opposed the lot and suspected that the lot was not meeting its way.

"It isn't," admitted Mayor Patterson. "It has been a disappointment with revenue less than we expected. No parking lot ever meets all of its costs. The lot will be a disappointment after the lot has been around a while."

BARBERS SAY "YES"
To Continue Policy. All of Princeton's barbers have agreed to continue their policy of cutting the hair of any male who properly presents himself in the shop for a haircut.

The policy announcement was made Tuesday morning after Mayor Henry S. Patterson and the barbers met in conference. Mayor Patterson had invited all Princeton barbers to meet with him after he received a letter charging one barber with discrimination against Negro customers. (See "Mailbox," TOWN TOPICS, August 6.)

Immediately after he read the letter, Mayor Patterson said, he called the PAHR office, talked with Thomas Caldwell of PAHR, and discussed with him the plan to call a barbers' conference. PAHR had been considering the possibility of a demonstration.

Mayor Patterson said, "The barbers told me that they never had discriminated and did not plan to in the future." Mayor Patterson said, "and the barber involved in the letter subscribed to the policy statement."

"I commend the barbers and PAHR for their sense of community responsibility. Mayor Patterson continued. "The barbers were delighted to help if they could, and to correct any misunderstandings. The objective was to correct a problem, not to demonstrate for the sake of demonstrating, and PAHR's awareness of this shows a responsible attitude."

There are 12 barbershops in the Borough of Princeton. There are in the Witherspoon-John area and serve mostly Negro customers. In the policy statement, "I properly presents" is interpreted to mean that a man is sober.

SERVICE TO ALL.
Barbers Cannot Discriminate. The New Jersey Board of Barber Examiners has mailed to all barbers in the state a letter informing them that it is unlawful to refuse to serve non-white customers on the grounds that they do not know how to cut their hair.

In last week's issue of TOWN TOPICS a letter to Mailbox asserted that Negro customers in Frank's Barber Shop on Witherspoon Street had been informed that a particular type of clippers was necessary to cut their hair. They were told that, accordingly, they could not be served there.

The text of the letter to New Jersey barbers follows:

"During recent discussions between the Board of Barber Examiners and the Director and staff of the Division on Civil Rights of the Department of Law and Public Safety, it was pointed out by the representative of this State that some barbers in this State have frequently refused to serve non-white individuals on the ground that they do not know how to cut their hair.

"This Board observed that 'All persons belonging to the Board of Barber Examiners Ever since that week about mid-July when seven inches of rain fell in five days, this part of the world has been getting drier again. And the long-range forecast for the next 30 days says it will stay that way.

Mid-week showers are expected, but nothing running to more than a half inch. It will be cooler and normal (the August average is 75 degrees), turning somewhat warmer again by Sunday.

News Of The THEATRES

PRINCE AND PLAYHOUSE

The Unsinkable Molly Brown now through Tuesday is kept afloat largely through the frantic efforts of Debbie Reynolds, who isn't about to let a little dead weight drag her under.

With big ideas about being rich, Molly marries a miner (Harve Presnell) who strikes gold, and they move into Denver to rub elbows with the city's high society. The blue-bloods give Molly the cold shoulder, however, and she takes off for Europe to collect some culture. In the end, Molly has not only survived the Titanic disaster and become a heroine for saving a few lives, but also learned trite lesson about life and love.

The songs in a musical are supposed to smooth over the normally thin plot, but the soundtrack of "Molly" very nearly sends this one into oblivion. Miss Reynolds may not have been aware of what she was up against, but

COUNTING THE CARATS: Money-minded Debbie Reynolds appears to be quite pleased with the diamond ring given to her by Harve Presnell in this scene from "The Unsinkable Molly Brown." It's at the Prince and Playhouse through Tuesday.

In any event her high spirited performance breathes life into a tired picture.

THE GARDEN

The Fall of the Roman Empire (now through August 25) plods along on the theory that if Rome wasn't built in a day, it should take at least three hours and one intermission to tear it down.

With this in mind, producer Samuel Bronston first took all and sundry to a Spanish plain where he constructed a full-scale model of the Roman Forum and a Roman fortress. Next, he hired a batch of big nam stars (Sophia Loren, Alec Guinness, James Mason, Stephen Boyd and Christopher Plummer), and dressed them up in brand new tunics and togas. As a third and final step, he staged the inevitable chariot races, sword fights and rebellions, and slaughtered a few hundred barbarians for good measure.

Unfortunately, the cutting scissors must have been lost somewhere under all the footage that was shot. As a result, the picture is undeniably overlong, but the action is there for those who care to wait for it.

THE NEW STRAND

Two films, "Black Like Me," starring James Whitmore, and "Tillie's Punctured Romance," a release by Mack Sennett in 1914 are scheduled for this weekend at the New Strand in Lambertville.

Shown Thursday through Saturday, "Black Like Me" is the true story of a Texas journalist who dyed his skin black and hitch-hiked across the Deep South to learn what it feels like to be a Negro there. In his guise as an ordinary Negro, he comes into contact with a representative cross-section of whites and Negroes.

His fears and frustrations mount under the impact of a succession of indignities, routine to Negroes, but shocking to him. When a militant Negro integrationist (who knows his secret) challenges his motives, —Continued on Page 8

To Us

STRIPES ARE IN

New Furs Show Trend. A natural Australian zebra coat which can be seen for ten blocks on a clear day, is a fashion star in the new fall fur collection at the Flemington Fur Company 8 Spring Street, Flemington.

And wait 'til you see the other stripes and the Somali leopard spots and the swiftness of mink and sheared seal!

Flemington Fur, the fourth largest fur company in the world, if you please, has been located in Flemington since 1920. The shop carries a steady inventory, throughout the year, of more than $1 million in fine furs, so that if your temperament shies away from Australian zebra, you may examine classic coats in the softest mink or greyest Persian.

Fall fashion at Flemington comes, only only only from the shop's own award-winning designers, but from the drawing boards of the House Fontana de Roma in Italy.

Natural Somali leopard is still the king of furs, and Flemington has it in a double-breasted trend with a stand-out, standup collar, a coat equally suitable for casual or dress wear.

That Australian Zebra has a turn-back collar of the same zebra fur, sleeves that escape the wrist, and black leather buttons to keep the stripes from flying away. We saw it worn with calf-height black leather boots and wristlet black leather gloves, and it was brilliant.

Another sports coat is the sleek jacket of natural Lakoda sheared fur seal. It's a Fontana de Roma design, with a collar turning back from an open throat, two fur-flapped pockets and two slash pockets in its brief hip length. You may also buy a matching hat banded with a leather braided band.

For the woman who thinks of fur in terms of elegance rather than sport, Flemington shows a natural chinchilla from Fontana de Roma, executed with elbow-length cuffed sleeves and a collar to turn against the wind. This coat, in full length, truly deserves the adjective "regal."

In mink, Flemington shows a delightful four-buttoned coachman's coat in Emba tourmaline mink from the show-room's own designers, and Fontana's Emba jasmirine while mink with the skins worked horizontally. They tell us Elizabeth Taylor has this one.

Mink stoles, strollers, capes, jackets and sable - trimmed mink coats are available in such abundance as to prove that mink still holds a firm place in women's hearts.

Another long-term favorite, raccoon, shows up in 1964 with the skins worked into a chevron pattern. The coat has full sleeves, a flat collar and double-breasted buttons all the way to the chin. Natural Sage Norwegian blue fox, as long-hair as they come, makes a fur stole that will give you a pleasant change from the usual mink stole.

And, of course, furs lined with other furs jaunty fur hats and fur-trimmed cloth coats and suits are all on the racks, just waiting for your Flemington visit. Watch yourself with that zebra!

THE NEED FOR TWEED

Pick Your Mist. All the subtle tonal gradations of an autumn mist in Scotland have been woven into the fall tweeds ready for you at the 14 Chambers Street Fabric Shop. Good with a needle? You have to be, to handle these superb wools.

Try and decide which of three grey herringbones you'll use for a fall suit. They are one-quarter, one-half and one-inch herringbones, with a skinny little "bone" making up the stripes. Another kind of stripe appears in dark green and blue, also available in dark brown and rust.

TIGER ON YOUR BACK:
Tiger pelts from India have been worked into this coat to retain the effect of natural stripings. Leather piping and buttons provide the bite. New at Flemington Furs.

One nubbed tweed looks like minute stained glass fragments, seen through dark glasses. Two plaids are quiet, but with plenty of color behind the mist and why not try the black one with snowflakes of red, blue and white falling at random in the dark?

That nice mohair comes in a very deep purple, black or toast and there's a big basket weave in brilliant red, teal or royal. A nubbed tweed comes

It's New To Us

in claret, gold or avocado-olive for an autumn dress.

Winter white has three different features at The Fabric Shop. Two are hacketweave, one smaller than the other,
and the third is a zigzag design, rather Jacquard in appearance.

Flannels might begin with the autumnal beauty that would go so well with russet and brown, and proceed through the royal blue purple to the charcoal-wine, sturdy enough to use for a suit.

Of course you'll look at the new pattern books while you're there. Nina Ricci, in Vogue, has a one-piece dress with hip yoke, slim skirt and inset dickie, worn under a double-breasted coat with back belt.
And Laroche of Paris presents a suit whose blouse has the deepest bowl neckline you ever saw, worn with a two-button semi-fit jacket and slim skirts.
Forquet of Italy suggests his double-breasted A-line coat, patterned with a sleeveless or long-sleeved cuffed dress with a collar and an easy fit. All are Vogue's Couturier designs.

For back-to-school, Fabric
Shop has Simplicity's multitude of jumpers, some with a deeply cut square neck, others with a deep V. A one-piece school dress with an A-line has low pleats breaking from the two low pockets — good swimmer for clubbies. A skirt and sleeveless jacket comes in regular and chubby sizes with a pair of deep box pleats to give the action room young school-ers need.

Pool Complex Opposed.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
The Princeton Association for Human Rights has consistently supported the development of public swimming facilities in our community and feels compelled to go on record as opposing the granting of any variance for the purpose of building the complex of swimming pools proposed for the site adjacent to the shopping center unit such as public swimming pool is provided by the Princeton Community.

The contemplated fees for the complex of pools would be beyond the means of many residents of Princeton; therefore, the pools would not meet the needs of a large segment of the population of the town. PAHR opposes the granting of any variance at this time because the complex would tend to drain away support for the proposed public pool.

Residents of Princeton Township are encouraged to attend the Township Zoning Board meeting to be held Thursday evening, August 13, at 8 at Township Hall. The variance will be discussed at that time.

REV. ALBERT D. TYSON
Pres. Princeton Association for Human Rights

Pool Complex Defended.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
As manager of the Princeton Shopping Center, I have been closely involved with planning the newly-proposed Princeton Aquatic Club. Those of us associated with the project have worked long and hard to make this much-needed facility an attractive addition to the community. I am convinced that the results have justified our highest aims, that the beautiful structures and fine landscaping will enhance the area and make available to the people these swimming pools they have long sought.

I was disturbed, therefore, to discover in TOWN TOPICS the letters to the Editor that so much of the opposition to our proposal is based on ideas which are either inaccurate or founded on misinformation. Constructive criticism is always welcome, but when such opposition is not based on fact, and further, is inflamed by unreasoned fear of change, then it becomes necessary to amplify our position and to explain in greater detail the advantages to the community from the Aquatic Club installation. This letter is an attempt to both inform and clarify.

I would like to first discuss an objection raised to the quality of the existing landscaping at the Shopping Center. We have never made any written agreements to landscape any part of the Center, nor are we in any way required to do so.

Nonetheless, we have planted over 100 poplars at the east property line, flowers all along Harrison Street, shrubs, vines and ivy in the parking areas and along the buildings and many trees, plants and bushes in the mall. It has always been our long range policy to beautify the site with abundant greenery.

We know that some people will never be content with our green thumb efforts, but we are proud of the pleasant rural character of the Center and will continue to cultivate and improve it.

In reference to the proposed Aquatic Club, I will briefly elaborate some points contained in the original press release, which seems to have been misinterpreted by several people.

We require no zoning variance to erect additional retail space on the proposed site, in fact, if the variance is rejected, the owners will probably go ahead with the proposed pool for more stores. To an investor, retail stores represent less monetary outlay, greater income and more stability than an aquatic club, but we are convinced that an attractively-planned and landscaped grouping of pools will do far more to enhance the general appearance of that area of the Township.

The proposed Princeton Aquatic Club is in no way connected with any Princeton municipal governments and has no relationship to the public facilities being planned for Route 206. Our installation is to be privately owned and will be operated to earn a profit for the investors.

Contrary to the average family of $100, and the initiation fee of $150, refundable on a pro-rated basis over a ten-year period, will make all facilities available to the general public. Membership preference will be given first to local residents.

Concern has been voiced that, should this project be built, it would delay the completion of the public pool on Route 206. Such concern is unfounded. The pool will be built by the Township and will be financed by the Township. The pool will be built by the Township and will be financed by the Township. The pool will be built by the Township and will be financed by the Township.

The planned total membership will be approximately 700 families, or more than 2000 people. These figures were projected from local population studies, and the available site, capacity of the existing parking facilities and by our desire to avoid congestion of any kind.

These numbers are not excessive because investigations into similar installations have shown that at peak attendance periods, there is never more than about 50% of total membership present, and that the more usual maximum attendance is 30%. If a car carries an average of three people, then there will be between 250 to 350 cars.

The existing parking lot has a total capacity of 2000, all of it off-street which adds no burden to municipal street facilities. Also, some people will arrive on foot from immediately surrounding areas, and the bus line which terminates at the Center will bring others. As one can see, the 250 to 350 number is a generous estimate, the actual amount will probably be less.

To say then, as one critic has, that traffic and noise will be a problem is totally unrealistic. There can be little doubt that the local residents will benefit greatly from these additional health and recreation facilities, and that professional instruction and supervision will control activities in desirable directions.

And finally, to imply, as one person has, that residential taxes will rise if the aquatic club is built is pure fiction. Commercial construction of this kind will obviously add money to the municipal coffers—all to the benefit of local home-owners.

I invite and urge all interested parties to attend the ongoing Board hearing on August 13 at 8 p.m. in Township Hall. It seems that a small group of people who are strongly opposed to the Aquatic Club may endanger its approval. This would surely be to the detriment of the Township as a whole.

Community Pool Overdue.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
A swimming pool for the whole community is long overdue. Now that the Community Park is at last under construction, it is time to include a good swimming pool for immediate planning and for next summer.

Less Talk — More Swimming.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Princeton citizens are very good at talking. They are even good at wishful thinking.

For many years we have talked about the obvious need for a swimming pool—in vain and that is worse than a shame. On Thursday night, all concerned citizens can drop their apathy by attending the meeting at Township Hall and acting.

It's New To Us

Call up 982-7571 any time, day or night and tell them where you want to go. In about ten minutes, a taxi will be at your front door. Not an airplane, junior, a car-type taxi. The car will whisk you out to the Route 206. You climb into one of the seven Beechcraft taxis, the fastest single-engine plane around these days—and before you've settled into your seat, you're arrived.

The Beechcraft will fly 180 mph—no joke. Princeton Airport figures on about 15 minutes to Kennedy, 45 minutes to Washington, D.C. If you have a conference with LBI And they'll pick you up whenever you say, day or night, and bring you back to Princeton and you can front door. The fare is $26 a mile. This means $91 to New York, a regular cab charges $38 to drive you to a New York airport, a fare which can be split at a time to the number of passengers on the plane. For example, if Princeton Airport has one man who wants to go to New York at 10 a.m., and a second who wants to leave at 10:30 the airport may suggest that they split the difference, leave at 10:15 and share the fare after all $50.00 is even and pleasant for both.

Second Thoughts on Vietnam.

To the Editor of Town Topics.
The recent attacks on U.S. soldiers by North Vietnam about incriminate the whole of our attack by the U.S. fair over to the UN, at least in some cases, involved a host of questions.

It would appear, upon reflection, that the U.S. really does not believe the U.S. to be a very proper or effective force. Somewhat in contrast of the way we sought UN involvement when the North Koreans said over into South Korea in 1950. In 1964 we could order elements of our armed forces to deliberately attack and installations in a foreign country.

On Your Own?

If your rides in a Princeton Airport "taxi" infect you with the bug, the airport is pleasantly equipped to teach you how to fly your own plane.

Four flight-instruction planes are waiting out there on Route 206, and maybe one has your name on it. Most student flyers can finish the standard government-approved curriculum in about a year, according to Lawrence Tokash, who runs the airport. This means 55 hours of flight time.

And in case your idea of small aircraft is based on 1920 pictures of wooden biplanes, Mr. Tokash points out that today's plane is a highly sophisticated machine, with central systems so refined that the amateur pilot is almost automatically efficient.

Without attempting to involve the UN in any way.

"But we were attacked!" is the immediate cry.

Our republic of North Vietnam's first attack and the attack and the change in naval orders to shoot to destroy any attacker are certainly proper reflexive actions.

Our failure either to attempt to notify the UN or to use its machinery during the time interval between attacks reveals some of our real feelings about the UN. Even after the second attack on our naval vessels, we did not seek the services of the UN, but only vaguely suggested that body about our retaliatory air strike. The deeper question of injured is not the legality of our strikes, under Article 51 of the UN Charter, but rather what is our image of world law and order? What image of world law and order is being taught to Turkey by our actions? Are we committing ourselves to a peace by American fiat, a pax Americana?

Or are we committing ourselves to world peace by universal law backed up by international machinery, a pax UN?

It is time to reexamine our position in Vietnam. If we feel too credulous or insecure about incriminate the whole of our attack by the U.S. fair over to the UN, at least in some cases, involved a host of questions.

It would appear, upon reflection, that the U.S. really does not believe the U.S. to be a very proper or effective force. Somewhat in contrast of the way we sought UN involvement when the North Koreans said over into South Korea in 1950. "A statement by any licensed barber, given as a reason for denying services to non-white persons, that he did not know how to cut or shave their hair, would be untrue.

The Board of Barber Examiners was reminded in these discussions by representatives of the Attorney General of New Jersey that the Board is obliged by statute either to refuse to issue or renew, or to suspend or revoke, any license or certificate of registration for, among other reasons, gross malpractice, gross incompetence or unprofessional conduct.

Any barber who refuses to cut or shave the hair of non-white persons on the ground that he does not know how to do so would be subject to the provisions of this statute."

HOUSE IS RANSACKED

Over $2500 in Jewels Stolen.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harland W. Hoisington of 2

Morven Place was broken into and ransacked sometime during the day Friday while the Hoisingtons were out of town. Four rings, a brooch, and clothing valued at $2500 were taken.

Mrs. Elva Sournier, who lives in an apartment in the back of the Hoisington home, discovered the burglary when she returned from work on Friday about 4:30 p.m. Her apartment had also been entered.

Pulse said that the thieves gained entry by prying open a screen door and a set of French doors that led into the dining room. Both floors of the house were ransacked and a television set had been carried down from the second to the first floor, but was left there. The Hoisingtons returned home Monday and a list of the missing items to police. This includes a diamond ring, a rhinestone ring, a gold ring, and a platinum ring, ranging in value from $500 to $750, a diamond and platinum brooch worth $750, and several items of apparel such as sport shirts, sweaters and nylon stockings. Detective Arthur Gallant is investigating.

CYCLIST IS KILLED

His latest work, "New Jersey and the Revolution" will be published in the fall.

Mr. Bill's own military experience included duty on the Mexican border as a regimental adjutant and service in France where he attained the rank of captain as a divisional Red Cross representative with the first A.E.F. ## The Great Melon Raid

If you were driving in the Shopping Center parking lot and you saw a watermelon lying all by itself next to a row of apple trees, would you do it? You'd pick it up and take it home, naturally.
That's exactly what some mmmist did this week, never realizing that he—or, more likely, she—had made off with the principal target of the Grover Park Playground Treasure Hunt.
Playground boys and girls, poised for action and thirsty for all that juicy red meat, started off on the hunt. They hunted and they hunted. They raced all over the park, thoroughly exhausting themselves without finding so much as a rind.
Finally one small boy who had watched frustrations of the hunt with keenest interest, came up to Arno Safran, playground director. "I saw somebody take the melon," he announced, with a fresh melon, the team headed by Louis Intartagita found the prize.

regional plan in a referendum this fall. A projected junior high school will also be on the ballot.

Costs of the regionalization project as suggested in the study group would be carried by the three boards on the basis of the 1964 state table of equalized valuations.

The committee proposes:

- Sessions with the municipal planning boards for an exchange of views on any capital improvements.

- Detailed discussions of the instructional program, and the type of building which is recommended as a result of the regionalization study.

- Consultation of school enrollment data present and projected in James C. Sandlin, superintendent of Hopewell Township schools.

It also suggests the appointment of Kramer, Hirsch and Carls, Trenton architects, to develop plans for any proposed building. Cassel E. Rabinowitz, an attorney for a local work concerning regionalization and Hawkins, Detroit and Wood as bonding at $250,000 in connection with any bond issue approved.

MUSEUM COMING HERE

And Steam Engine Too, A full-scale replica of the first steam locomotive operated in the state and a 18-ton museum on wheels will be displayed in Princeton on successive weekends as part of the New Jersey Tercentenary celebration.

The New Jersey Tercentenary History mobile is an airconditioned trailer 45 feet long and 16 feet wide, which tells the story of the state's 300th birthday through the use of dioramas, maps, tape recordings, photographs and artifacts. The vehicle will be parked in Palmer Square in front of the post office this Sunday, and will be open from noon to 8 p.m.

The "John Bull" steam engine will be displayed August 21-23, mounted on a flat car on a railroad siding serving the Princeton University campus near the Princeton station. The Pennsylvania Railroad had the replica constructed for the Chicago Exposition of Progress, Exposition of 1933-34. The original "John Bull" locomotive hauled passengers on the old Camden and Amboy railroad. The first railroad in New Jersey, it extended past Princeton and on to Jersey City.

PICNIC PLANNED

By West Windsor Democrats, The annual picnic of the West Windsor Democratic Club will be held Sunday starting at 1 p.m. at the Liberty Social Club Grove, Hightstown and Rabbits Hill Roads.

Francis J. Ward is chairman of the event. Norman Douglas is in charge of arrangements; Robert Bell, tickets; and Mrs. Marie MacKenzie, food.

WELCOME TEA SET

By Hadassah Chapter, The Princeton Chapter of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization, is sponsoring a welcome tea for prospective members at 8:30 Thursday, August 29.

The tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Stanley Fishback, 140 Longview Drive. Anyone interested in Hadassah's work in Israel and the United States is welcome.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT
From a Bio-chemist, "People don't have to be crackpots about diets." Said nutritional-biochemist Irene C. Namur last week. "Nature looks after us — if we'll just pay attention."

She places great faith in the seasonal foods. To judge by appearances, her faith is justified. She is to pull the puppets of two little girls to prove her status as a great-grandmother. Her golden smiles are food of youth.

Nature's Way. Ruffling through a lifetime of research notes piled in and around her desk at home at 41 Robert Road, she returned often to her theme — that the fresh foods in the markets hold the clue to good health.

"Nature supplies in sequence all the food needed for human nutrition," she said. "The seasonal foods give us the vitamins and minerals that the body needs."

For instance, in the spring there are asparagus, strawberries, greens — including the dandelion. These contain sulphur, potassium and other elements. Potassium is a restorative chemical causing healthful activity and growth of cells. Sulphur is a cleansing element that enables the liver to do its laboratory work.

"Remember the old sulphur and molasses?" Children had to take it every spring. It's not necessary if you eat the proper food."

She thought a moment. There's a salad that children

HEALTH TIPS: "I believe that manganese is valuable to all ages," says Dr. Irene C. Namur, nutritional-biochemist. "It's a chemical that increases the powers of mental concentration. It enters the body in extremely small quantities but is vital to its function. Manganese, which you find in watercress, for instance, increases recuperative powers, quickens the senses, especially sight, and it also furthers memory association." Story, this page. (Staff photo) love grated carrots and cabbage, with pineapple and fresh lettuce. That's full of natural sulphur.

Heat Exhaustion. In the summer, Dr. Namur went on when the sun's rays are most intense, nature supplies melons and tomatoes. "You know if a truck driver or a salesman stopped by the side of the road and ate half a melon, or a tomato, they wouldn't suffer from heat exhaustion."

"Melons and tomatoes contain sodium and chlorine, the two chemicals (or salts) the body loses through perspiration. When my nephew was working on a farm during summer vacation, he knew enough to eat melons and tomatoes instead of getting a soft drink."

Throughout the summer, the many varieties of berries supply iron to the system. "Iron promotes blood hemoglobin... it's an oxygen carrier to healthy blood cells. Combined with phosphorus (which you find in raw egg yolk) it nourishes the brain cells. And during the late summer come grapes, which are full of silicon, a protective chemical which prevents germs from attacking."

In the autumn Dr. Namur says, "There's the late crop of apples and nuts, as well as the grains full of carbohydrates or carbon, which furnish heat and energy in the winter."

Summer Meals. According to Dr. Namur, summer and winter meals should vary more than simply putting ice in the coffee or tea. Not as much starch for heat and energy is needed in the summer — so women can defer their pudding, pie cake and cookie making for winter.

A sizeable fresh salad take care of the alkaline elements needed to reinforce the body fluids. There should be such items on the menu as boiled meats, a fresh green vegetable — not overcooked — and tomatoes, melons, berries and grapes."

She has found that borach is a good alkaline for summer menus, as is cucumber soup. "I make cucumber soup with three medium-size raw cucumbers, two tablespoons of parsley, a cup of tomato juice and celery salt to taste. "I add a cup of sour cream or as the last step. You keep it in the refrigerator until you're ready to serve."

Trim Teens. One of Dr. Namur's concerns is the dangerously skinny diet of many teenage girls. "This can result," she warns, "in malnutrition at a very early age. This means lowered mental and physical capabilities."

"The girls should eat plenty of protein and alkaline foods — staying away from the starches if they want to reduce. They still keep that lean and hungry look they think is so appealing."

Concensions. With her basic knowledge of food chemicals, Dr. Namur has developed some formulas which have proven helpful to the elderly. She specialized in Brussels and New York City in geriatric nutrition. The formulas are used as a diet supplement.

One "concension," as she smilingly describes it, is a plasticity formula as a dietary adjunct for stiffening joints. "This involves canned celery juice mixed with unsweetened grapefruit juice in equal parts. About 16 or daily are taken at intervals in 4-oz. portions."

"The celery contains sodium which contributes to the elasticity of the ligaments and serves as an activator for calcium, preventing it from solidifying in the walls of the arteries and from forming deposits in the joints."

"I use grapefruit for magnesium, mainly. It is a neutralizing element which decreases in our bodies as we grow older. Magnesium is also supplied by almonds, apple cider, blackberries — even frog legs!"

"Maybe old people should go around with a pocketful of almonds and pecans. If they have difficulty chewing, the nuts could be chopped up and served as a salad or dessert topping."

The elderly, she said in an aside, "are often scolded for nibbling. But they can eat on — Continued on Page 17

"THIEF, CHEAT, CRASHER, WRECKER." Joann Henninger (right) is too busy thinking about stealing some gold to be worried about Barbara Aust's cheating at checkers — which is what both said they would like to do if they thought they could get away with it. Hiding under that Yankee baseball hat is Mark Hubel, a free from any impunity, carries out his impulse to "wreck the playground." (Staff Photos)

Question of the Week

Question: What would you like to do if you thought you could get away with it?

Where Asked: Grover Avenue Playground.

Barbara Aust, 10, Clearview Avenue: I'd like to cheat at checkers and take all my father's money!

Joann Henninger, 8, 22 Clearview Avenue: I'd like to steal some gold somewhere.

Mark Hubel, 8, 500 State Road: I'd like to sneak into a Yankee baseball game.

Jim Tkacs, 11, 252 N. Harrison Street: Wreck the playground!

Barbara Saldick, 12, 24 Bantall Road: Brbe my father in to giving me a larger allowance. That isn't very bad but it's hard for me. I think a girl my age should get a dollar a week, not including lunch money. Right now, I get 45c but if I make my bed I get 50c.

Nurmar Servis, 10, 367 Ewing Street: I'd like to go to school on Saturday and Sunday and have Monday through Friday off. Also, go out and play with my friends when my mother didn't want me to.

Nick Carnevale, 13, Clearview Avenue: Be able to drive a car at 13.

Barry Henninger, 13, 22 Clearview Avenue: Sleep in 'til 10 o'clock. I always have to get up at 8.

Lawrence Parker, 11, 25 Leigh Avenue: I'd like to jump into every swimming pool in Princeton on a hot day.

Tony Bailey, 9, 14½ Leigh Avenue: I'd like to steal a Shing Ray sports car.

Diane Saldick, 8, Randall Road: I would like to use my father's money and buy a gun ball machine.

Daryl Broadway, 10, 38 Leigh Avenue: Steal some pretty girls from a Broadway show and then go rob a bank so I would be able to buy them everything they want.

Scott Kauffman, 8, 62 Erdman Avenue: Go to a toy store and spend all my money.

Janie Cunningham, 7, State Road: I'd like to run away and be an army soldier.

Tummy Parker, 12, 27 Leigh Avenue: I'd like to go to a famous club in New York and sneak by the doorman.

Barbara Carnevali, 9, 164 Grover Avenue: I have two answers: put on my mother's necklace, and steal from a millionaire.

Chance Cavette, 13, Route 206: I'd like to "borrow" some things from Frank's Sport like basketballs and baseball bats and bring them over here.

Frank Mazzella, 9, 270 N. Harrison Street: I'd like to sneak out of my room when I've been punished and go on the swings.

George Tkacs, 13, 252 N. Harrison Street: Murder my music teacher.

Tella Shalherzer, 9, 107 Autumn Hill Road: Steal $1,600 from a bank.

Alice Carter, 12, 250 Russell Road: I'd like to ride down town on my bicycle.

by small quantities — and more often. Also their digestive juices are less active."

Jungle Juice. Curiously, a formula she developed during her geriatric studies in Brussels has turned out to be helpful for the pimple-plagued teenager.

"A woman mentioned her skin problems at the question-and-answer period after one of my lectures. I suggested that she mix carrot juice (sulphur) and unsweetened pineapple juice (iodine) — and see what happens. It cleared her skin, and since then has cleared the skin of so many young people."

"It's taken in the same quantity as the plasticity formula, and has been named "jungle juice" by my grandson."

"Brainworkers' Lag." Honey is high on Dr. Namur's list of useful foods. "It's a simple sweet," she says. "Digested by an enzyme in the mouth saliva, honey is absorbed immediately into the blood stream without having to be broken down by the liver."

"That 3 p.m. brainworkers' lag can be taken care of by a mouthful of honey held for a minute before swallowing. It gives the tired brain the glucose it needs."

"And there's an old German formula for fatigue — raw egg yolk and orange juice. There's nothing better for mental and physical fatigue."

Alcoholism. Dr. Namur, who is a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, became an addict involved in nutrition for the rehabilitating alcoholic. It was a side step, really. But a rewarding one.

At present she is a volunteer for the Alcoholism Information Center here in town. And naturally she has developed a diet adjunct.

"Doctor's who treat alcoholism agree that there is always a state of malnutrition. One of my formulas — as a dietary supplement for someone who's a heavy drinker — is simple raw egg yolk and a protein supplement (which you buy at the drug store) mixed with milk."

"To alleviate the hangover stage, I suggest copious fruit juices, even an alkaline water, but above all, HONEY!"

Serawny Kids. She feels that more mothers should be alerted to the food needed by children who can't seem to put on any weight. "Youngsters need plenty of milk for growing bones, but there are 'fill-in' stages when they need meats, and cheeses to build tissue. Custards, pies and mashed potatoes won't build him up during the 'fill-in' periods."

Natural craving, she went on, cannot always be trusted. "The person who craves sweets may need iodine. Years ago at Columbia they observed that pre-school children reached out for the food which their bodies lacked. But with the over-salting over-seasoning and shortening of rich foods, adults have lost the simple instinct of a child."

She deplores food faddists and vitamin quipsters. "Vitamins are needed in relatively infinitesimal amounts and available in properly cooked foods," reflecting her long association with the medical profession, she says. "Some people, without consulting a physician, use vitamins as a cure-all. This can lead to harmful results."

Some 50 years ago, Dr. Namur developed a method of typing people into constitutional patterns. She noticed that the body types are prone to different nutritional deficiencies. Her study has led her into a deep analysis of types and their various chemical needs.

"Nature cannot always repair physical damage caused by a long time neglect of proper food. And it can't always cure a condition it might have prevented," Dr. Namur said reflectively.

"So many people die of so-called natural causes. Perhaps there could be a study made of likely chemical deficiencies. People could then help themselves by education. They wouldn't have to consume their physician's valuable time with all of the aches and pains that arise from faulty nutrition."

FASHION SHOW PLANNED
By Woman's Club, "Autumn Showcase," a preview of fall fashions sponsored by the Woman's Club of Princeton, will be presented at the Princeton Country Club on October 18.

The television team of Paul and Mary Rits will be on hand with Mr. Rits as commentator. Mrs. Rits' accompanying musical accompaniment, a buffet luncheon will be served at noon.

Fashions through the courtesy of Hellebros of Princeton, will range from the new 1964 knits to the latest in accessories, and will also feature teenage and children's apparel. Among the models will be members of the Woman's Club. Mrs. Dudley W. Clark, Jr., is chairman of the event. Others on the committee are Mrs. A. R. Morgan, luncheon; Mrs. Edward L. McCall, decorations; Mrs. William L. Liggett, programs; Mrs. R. Wayne Yoder, models; Mrs. Eli S. Firth, properties; Mrs. Philip R. Shays, solicitations; Mrs. Norman D. Kelley, tickets; and Mrs. Frank A. Holman, publicity.

All seats will be served. Ticket information is available from Mrs. Kenneth H. Stern, 924-4936, or Mrs. Roy M. Vance, 921-8803.

EXPLORING THE SKIES
The Amateur Year. In a space age such as ours, man's interest in the composition of the universe is likely to increase. In Princeton, a group of area residents whose attentions are continually turned skyward have formed an Amateur Astronomers Association.

Although the association is about a year and a half old, just recently it has merged with the Polaris Astronomers Association—a similar group that was based in Bristol, Pa.—and has nearly doubled its membership. The organization, with 22 members including 13 from Princeton and the surrounding area, is headed by Karl Koehler.

The other officers are Robert Packer, vice-president; Frank Shallcross, secretary; Gilmore Stately, treasurer; and William Beggs, program chairman.

As the name of the association implies, the members are drawn together by the enjoyment they receive from observing the heavens. The various members, however, participate in this age-old avocation with differing degrees of intensity. Shallcross, a resident of Princeton Junction, explained that, to some, astronomy is just a part-time hobby while to others it may involve building sizeable telescopes and actually making significant contributions to the knowledge of the professional astronomer. "Maybe 25 percent of our members are really serious amateurs," he said, "while the others just regard it as an enjoyable hobby."

The Harmless Hobby. "The attractions of astronomy," Mr. Shallcross continued, "vary according to the individual. But I think amateur astronomers have in common a general intellectual curiosity. The question 'what is the universe composed of just naturally attracts your attention.'"

Furthermore, he said, astronomy is the one rare scientific hobby in which the amateur can make a significant contribution without endangering the work of the professional. "If you're interested in a scientific hobby," he explained, "there are not too many things you can do without intensive knowledge or without fouling things up. For instance, the amateur archaeologist can make a mistake in his excavations."

Among the members of the Princeton association, Mr. Koehler has perhaps the most intense interest in heavenly observations. The Bordentown resident has an observatory on his property equipped with a 10-inch telescope.

Generally speaking, the hobby does not require great financial resources, although a

GOING BACK in Town Topics

FIVE YEARS AGO
August 13, 1959. The summer of 1959 was similar in many ways to the present. It was a year of a long and hot July and August was punctuated by debates in Borough Council over housing for the elderly, in Township Committee on new streets and expansion of sewerage, and in TOWN TOPICS' Mailbox by letters on Nassau-Salman's constantly-growing traffic problems and the community's need for improved recreational facilities.
Five years ago, there were among the names in the news, Township Mayor R. Kenneth Furman appointed five residents of his municipality to the newly-formed Board of Recreation Commissioners; Mrs. John V. A. Fine, Melvin B. Gottlieb, Richard Pearson, Robert Sunkin, Gerald A. Speedy... Philip Minor was the director of a letter-received "Homeless Inland" staged by the University Players in Murray Theatre... Raymond Mandone, Borough Chief of Police, launched a "polite but firm" campaign against Nassau Street jaywalkers, commencing particularly on "package-laden juveniles" who looked in neither direction before setting out in midstream.

The Fire Department's push in determining the location of alarms given in rushing Princeton Township was the subject of a joint municipal conference... under the existing system, the number of the box in the Borough nearest the blaze was sounded and while two-way radios directed apparatus to the exact point, firemen arriving in their own cars had no firm knowledge of where to go.

The plan evolved, working successfully today, was to establish 19 focal points in the Township which were assigned numbers to be rung on the Borough alarm system... In 1959, the Borough Fire Commissioner was John R. Redding, his Township Engineer, part, James G. Campbell Jr.

A cloudburst ended the long drought, and in Griggstown there was so much water in the streets when the canal overflowed that TOWN TOPICS' carried a picture of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sherman wading knee-deep—he trousers rolled up, she in shorts carrying her husband's shoes as he began his daily commute to New York.

On the sports scene, Gav Robert H. Meyner made plans to enter the senior division of the National Doubles Championship at Brookline, Mass. Montgomery Township won the Tri-County Baseball League title, finishing ahead of the Princeton Athletic Club despite a 3-0 shutout knock-out in the final game by Bob Munizony... Princeton University's football team was looking forward to seven home games in Palmer Stadium, one of them against Navy.

TEN YEARS AGO
August 12, 1949. "Number, please" was on its way out in Princeton. If gradually, the Telephone Company was busy installing new instruments in Princeton homes and places of business, with an eye to the transition to dials. However, complete conversion was estimated to take two years.

The political picture in Princeton Township was in a state of flux because the Legislature and Gov. Meyner were sparring over the number of members New Jersey townships should have on their governing bodies... the current number was three, the Legislature favoring holding the line but the Princeton voters, in a "freeze" and the working toward the creation of five-man committees as more representative of growing municipalities. In Princeton, Mayor Albert Salzman announced that at the event of expansion of the governing body to five members, he would reconsider his decision to retire after 15 years of service. He based his reasoning on the fact that if three townships were elected, only the two-man minority John H. Wallace Jr. and Richard H. Wood would have previous experience P.S. Gov. Meyner's proposal to increase went through, Mayor Salzman reconsidered and was re-elected, on a slate with Republican newcomers Ruth D. Was Jr. and Ralph S. Mason.

On the business scene, L. Bamberger & Co. was preparing to move into its new store in the new Princeton Shopping Center... Bellows Children's Shop celebrated its fourth anniversary in Princeton by announcing plans to move from 20 Nassau Street to greatly expanded quarters at 208-210 Nassau, the former home of Acme Markets... Nash Ramblers were being sold by Brook Motors on Witherspoon Street and Hudson's by Bogert Motors on State Road.

In summer theaters, Philip Minor was on the other side of the footlights than in 1959 when he was cast in the University Players' production of "Twelfth Night," closing out a successful season at Murray Theatre... "The Came Maury" was drawing crowds to the Playhouse but there was only one motion picture theatre open, with the Garden closed until Labor Day.

Elsewhere in the news a decade ago the seemingly inevitable drought was ended by more than four inches of rain in the first ten days of August... Princeton Township's, recently, saved ordinance banning "look-a-likes" in housing developments was commended by Stanley C. Sumner, president of the Princeton Republican Club then, as now, feeling ran high against admission of Red China to the U.N. The New Jersey Fair showing 82% of the State's residents opposing the suggestion.

Members of the Princeton Fire Department got a call to "wait for a fire"... State Police had received a message

Tercentenary Booklet
The West Windsor Tercentenary Committee is compiling a booklet containing the most comprehensive history of the township to date... in conjunction with the Tercentenary Community Day Celebration on September 19.

The committee is soliciting patronage from all residents and neighboring communities to finance publication of the booklet. A listing of one name is priced at $1.50, while a "Mr. and Mrs." is $5.52.

that a mail car on a fast-moving express bound from New York to Philadelphia was abashed... when the train arrived at Princeton Junction, the locomotive could only wait it go by at 60 miles an hour, later learned that the train had been extinguished by the crew.

FIFTEN YEARS AGO
August 11, 1949. A citizens' committee which in February had led the protest against proposed installation of parking meters in the Borough's business section had by mid-summer become Princeton Business Association. Still opposed to the meters, its members were stirred anew by introduction of a new ordinance approving plans to build a shopping center here... "Worried by the prospect of such 'outside competition,'" the new association agreed that there was a serious shortage of parking facilities in midtown but felt that the installation of meters would merely drive customers to a shopping center. Note: It was four full years before meters were installed and the Shopping Center opened both in the late summer of 1953.

A sports note indicated that the 1949 Princeton football team, anticipating its first post-war nine-game schedule, was badly in need of a tailback... among the unheralded sophomores moving up to the varsity was one Richard W. Kymaier Jr.

In tennis, Mrs. Simon Hutter won the women's championship by defeating Miss Eleanor Rosenthal, 10-8, 6-2... in softball, not one but two league were active as was Manager Tom Brophy's Princeton entry in the Twin-M Baseball League... the latter raised its record to a sizzling 22 and 4 when Brophy pitched a three-hitter against Monmouth Junction.

The University Players were readying a production of the Jean Paul Sartre play, "The Reprieve," with a cast that included Karl Gortch, Peggy Kalmor and Rex Goreham... The Playhouse was offering Van Johnson and Judy Garland in "In the Good Old Summer Time"... but summer-time was proving a major obstacle for McCarter's role in the straw hat circuit.

Heat, humidity and inferior acting by Hollywood transplants were causing mounting boxoffice woes. Indications were that the contemplated 12-week season would be sharply curtailed by the production team of Harold Kennedy and Herbert Kenwith.

The work does involve many long hours and a good deal of patience, devoted principally to grinding the telescope's mirror.

Store Adds Late Night

Bamberger's Princeton store will be open Monday evenings until 9 p.m. starting next Monday. Harold Stark, the store's manager announced this week.

The new late night is in addition to the Thursday and Friday nights already in Bamberger's schedule. This means that the store will now be open Monday, Tuesday and Friday nights until 9 p.m. Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays, the store will continue to close at 5:30. Opening hour every day is 9:41 a.m.

"The added late evening should give working mothers and one-car families more flexibility," Mr. Stark said. "It will also be convenient for many of our customers who have started back-to-school shopping."

Avalon Place where monthly meetings are held. These normally include lectures by members, although plans are being considered to bring in outside lecturers on a fairly regular basis.

The topics of discussion range from basic astronomy to lectures on the construction of telescopes to mathematical background. The meetings are open to the public.

Training the Young. One of the indications that the hobby is taken seriously is the educational programs the association has established. The organization is sponsoring a series of three seminars on constellation identification. The first was held on July 9 and the other two are planned for September and October.

Enrollment in the program, which does not require a fee, is limited and is open to all adults and "serious" youngsters. The titles of the seminars are "Virgo to Aquila," "Serpens to Pegasus" and "Aquila to Aurica," referring to various regions of the sky.

The association is also offering a program for the youngsters who are staying in Princeton this summer under the sponsorship of the Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund. The club's facilities are being made available to the boys and girls once a week for three weeks during their stay.

"A lot of children from the city don't see much of the sky at all," Mr. Shallcross said. "They enjoy just exploring the heavens with the naked eye." Mr. Shallcross pointed out that a good many interesting observations may be made without the aid of a telescope.

For instance, he said, there are meteor showers nearly every month which can be viewed enjoyably without a telescope. "The best time to see them," he added, "is usually an hour or so before dawn."

The membership of the Princeton association is made up of men from a fairly wide variety of professions although about half are connected with engineering work. Their vocational knowledge undoubtedly helps at times in the construction of the telescopes. About half the members, Mr. Shallcross said, have built their own telescopes.

It is the hope of the organization to establish a class for instruction in building telescopes in the near future. Membership in the association involves yearly dues of $6 and entitles the member to a subscription to "Sky and Telescope," a monthly magazine.

TIME TO REGISTER

Lawrence Schools. New pupils for the Lawrence Junior High School, not enrolled in Lawrence Township schools last June, may report at any time to the school, located at 2435 Princeton Pike, for registration.

All new pupils should be registered before school opens on Wednesday, September 8. Students should bring birth certificates, transfer cards and report cards from previous schools attended, proof of compliance with Township health regulations and, if possible, be accompanied by a parent.

All pupils in the Lawrence Township Public Schools must show proof of vaccination against small pox, immunization against diphtheria and either three Salk vaccine inoculations or three feedings of Salk oral vaccine.

Registration of all new pupils in the elementary schools, kindergarten through sixth grade, will take place in the respective schools on Tuesday, August 25, between 9:30 and 1:30 and 1:35 and 3:15. Pupils transferring from other districts must present last year's report card for grade placement.

To be eligible for kindergarten, a child must reach his fifth birthday by November 30, 1964. To be eligible for first grade, he must reach his sixth birthday by that date.

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK—II

(This is the second of a series of four articles on Princeton's football prospects for 1964.)

Little Sophomore Strength. When Princeton lined up against Dartmouth for the final game of the 1963 season, there were eight seniors and three juniors on the field. When the starting unit was replaced by reserves mid-way through the first quarter, two seniors, five juniors and four sophomores went into action.

In a word, by season's end, only four of the top 22 players on the squad were sophomores. Save for the fact that Princeton will revert to the platoon system this fall, because of the return of virtually unlimited substitutions, the Class of 1967 would figure to play even less of a role in Tiger football fortunes in the months ahead than did its immediate predecessor.

Because of a combination of factors, ranging from numerous injuries to the complex problems of teaching the single wing to a squad almost wholly indoctrinated in T will above average ability. He's also well above average in size. 19-year-old John Seifert is 6-5, 240 and still growing.

If Princeton has ever had a bigger tackle candidate, memory fails; the only one of comparable measurements who was also good was Hollie Dunn, whose excellent use of his 6-5, 225-lb. frame won him All-American rating in 1960. Seifert ranks behind 225-lb. Ernie Pascarella on the depth chart, and the latter is an established regular of considerable ability whom Seifert is unlikely to displace. Like Kozumbo, however, he looms large in the Tigers' future.

Guards: The top two prospects were both largely out of action with injuries in their first year here but showed enough to be regarded as good prospects. Both are candidates for the longside guard slot. Bob Babalasi is 5-11 and 195; Jim Koskovic is an inch taller and five pounds lighter.

Center: Good reserve strength at a position which needs bolstering is expected to be provided by 203-lb. Carl Behnke. He showed all-around knowledge of the game as the freshman starter last year and impressed particularly with his blocking.

Wingbacks: The scramble for a regular berth at the flanker back position in the "Tigers' single wing will be compounded by the arrival on the scene of two promising sophomores — one of whom may earn the starting assignment by the beginning of his junior year. John Bowers of Traverse City, Mich., is credited by the coaching staff with "having all the attributes to make a fine wingback." At 6-9 and 180 Bowers has speed, runs well in the open and rates as a good pass receiver.

Defensive ability is the strong point of sophomore Hayward Gipson, a 195-pounder whose tackling was a bright spot last fall. With two-platoon football in the spotlight this year, he may fit into the picture on defense.

Fullbacks: There are three sophomore possibilities here — one of the few positions where the Tigers are overloaded. The fastest is Jerry Ingram, an all-state selection in Illinois. He's 5-10 and 195.

Ron Grossman, 6-1, 190, is also well-regarded, particularly for his work as a linebacker last fall. Bill Berkey is one End: The name Walt Kozumbo should be put down as a key contributor to Princeton's future football fortunes, possibly as early as this season. Bigger and stronger than average at 6-3 and 203, he has two principal attributes that make a good end: tonight ability as a pass receiver and marked dependability on defense.

Freshman coach Pep McCarthy feels that of the current sophomore crop, Kozumbo is the most likely to make the fastest contribution at the varsity level. McCarthy's high estimate of Kozumbo's ability is combined with a greater-than-normal loss at longside end: all three of last year's top-ranking players there have graduated.

Tackle: As in the situation at end, only one member of the Class of 1967 is rated as a strong tackle bet for the coming season, but here, too, the candidate is considered of the few sophomores with single wing experience in high school. He's not only a power runner with good speed but may get the punting assignment away from senior Pete Riley.

Tailbacks: The best all-around player is Doug James (6-0, 180), with experience in high men last fall. A fine safety-man, he is also rated as a capable punter and runner and figures to fit into the varsity picture in his first season.

The biggest allback candidate will be 200-lb. Dave Martin, who runs with considerable authority and has good blocking potential last fall despite time lost through injury. A third sophomore whose earned, running and passing strength will keep him in the picture in Lynn Moore. Six feet, three, 192 pounds, saw more action on offense last year than either Martin or James.

Summary. The top four of the dozen sophomores who are rated the best bets to earn varsity status are Kuzminko at end, Seifert at tackle, Bowers at wingback and James at tailback. Martin may also figure there, as could Moore if his passing potential develops to a point where the Tigers can throw in a manner that so satisfied them when it counted most in 1963.

Carl Rehnke may move up rapidly as a center and, as indicated, Bill Beckley could rare the punting assignment there. However, a considerable imbalance in the potential provided by the Class of 1967, of the top 12, only five are linemen.

Barren injuries to varsity holdovers on a large scale, no sophomore is likely to be in at the kickoff when Princeton faces Rutgers in Palmer Stadium on September 26. This has occurred in the past only when a newcomer with extreme potential comes along in a season when a major top has been created in graduation.

If a sophomore does crack the starting lineup by late October, the top bets are Kuzminko at leftside end and Bowers at wingback. The other possibility would be James at tailback, the position where Hugh MacMillan, Pete Ponelas, and Don McKay all rotated last year without one of them having season-long ability to call it his own.

Next Week: Tentative lineup

MAN OF PROMISE: Doug James, captain of last year's freshmen, may fit into the varsity picture this fall as a tailback of all-around ability.

of yearly book-holders will be disappointed. We can only hope that you will accept this decision with understanding."

Marlin S. McKay, Assistant to the Director of Athletics, said this week that public sale of season ticket books for Princeton's home football games will not be affected by the decision. A reduced rate for those who wish to see all in Palmer Stadium will continue to be offered.

While no specific announcement has been made, it is understood that the decision on the yearly books will remain in effect until the expanded field house is built. To arise near the open end of Palmer Stadium, it will provide seats for several thousand more spectators at basketball games than does Dillon Gymnasium, but it is still in the blueprint stage.

TICKET BOOKS LIMITED

To University Personnel. Because of the extreme demand in the past two seasons for seats at basketball games, Princeton University's Council on Athletics announced this week that it will henceforth limit the sale of its season ticket books to students, faculty and staff members.

The announcement made by Director of Athletics R. Kenneth Fairman, said that a number of book-holders had objected when they were unable to obtain tickets to games in Dillon Gymnasium. The gym has a capacity of about 2,800 and the interest created by Bill Bradley during the past two years has frequently brought a demand for upwards of 6,000 tickets for a single game.

Mr. Fairman's statement follows:

"The University has for many years offered for sale a yearly membership ticket book to alumni and non-alumni."

"The sale of these has rarely exceeded 300 in a given year. However, on those occasions when yearly membership book holders could not be issued tickets for some of the basketball games during the last two winters, the University was subject to criticism. Some purchasers of these books feel that they should be guaranteed tickets for all reserve seat events regardless of student and faculty demand."

"Because of our inability to give such priority and in assure avoidance of any misunderstanding in the future, the University Council on Athletics at its June 12th meeting voted to limit the sale of Yearly Books to the students, faculty and staff of the University until such time as adequate spectator facilities for basketball games can be provided."

"The University Council on Athletics regrets that it deems this step necessary because it knows that the great majority

The Eagles, under new ownership, have replaced coach Nick Skorich with Joe Kuharich, and traded quarterback Sonny Jurgensen to the Washington Redskins for Sam Snead. Other trades have also been made with the Green Bay Packers and the Pittsburgh Steelers as part of a rebuilding program designed to raise the Eagles a few notches in the league standings.

The ageless Y. A. Tittle will be back with the Giants, who seek a third straight win over the Eagles in this series in 1964. (Continued on Page 25) preparation for the defense of their Eastern Conference championship. Behind Title are Glynn Griffing, who has been with the Giants the past two seasons; Henry Schiethle, New York's sixth draft pick last season, and former Cornell star Gary Wood. Wood has impressed coach Alie Sherman in pre-season drills, and Sherman is also trying him out as a defensive halfback.

The anchor man on the Giants' highly-touted defensive unit, Sam Huff, was traded to the Redskins for Dick James to give New York more running ability, and Sherman must replace him with either Jerry Hillebrand or Bill Winter. The Giants would like to make their running game more of a threat to balance out their attack. About 18,000 tickets are still available for the contest at Jaycee chapters throughout the state. Some $7.50 tickets are available from the Giants and Eagles ticket offices, and from the Boys Clubs of Trenton. Seats priced at $3.50 and $5.50 are on sale at the University Store and Princeton Stationers.

In a concentrated effort to top last year's ticket sales, the Jaycees have established ticket booths at the Princeton Shopping Center, and the Princeton and Princeton Junction railroad stations.

John Lasey is executive director of the event. William Jaffe and Edward Edenfield, both of Princeton, are serving as state-wide ticket sales chairman. Mr. Jaffe is treasurer of the Princeton Chapter and Mr. Edenfield, secretary.

Obedience, judged by John Miller of Princeton, will begin at 12:30, and breed, judged by Miss Mary Young of Point Pleasant, Pa., will start at 1:30. Admission is $1 per dog, 50 cents for adults, and 24 cents for children, who must be accompanied by an adult.

ADVANCE ENTRIES HEAVY

For New Hope Auto Show. More than 100 entries have already been received for the New Hope Automobile Show, to be held on August 22 and 23 in New Hope.

Most of the entries have been in the antique automobile division, which will be judged on the first day of the show. Extremely rare models such as a 1908 Sears High Wheeler Motor Buggy, and a 1903 Stearns will be exhibited.

An antique fire engine, the first water pumper ever used by the Woodbury Fire Department, owned by Jack E. Hansell of Cherry Hill, will also be on display. Three other divisions will be judged on Saturday, including the Pierce Arrows, Rods and Customs and both vintage and modern sports cars. The classic cars, Rolls Royce, Lincoln Continental and others, will be judged on Sunday. In all, more than 900 entries are expected.

MATTHEWS VICTOR

In Junior League Baseball. Winning 11 out of 12 games during the regular season, Matthews Construction team captured the YMCA Junior League Baseball title for the second year in a row.

On Saturday in a post-season all-star game against Lambertville, the YMCA all-stars were defeated 6-0. Lambertville pulled off a thrilling triple play to insure the win. The victory ended the series at one apiece and both teams decided to play the rubber game at Lambertville this Saturday.

CHANGES MADE

In YMCA Swim Meet. In a change from last week's announcement, the YMCA Summer Swim Championship will be held this Saturday for both boys and girls. They had previously been scheduled a week apart in the YMCA pool.

The events have been adjusted to include mixed boy and girl relay teams and individual swim events for boys.

By JOHN F. BERNARD

Looking around the world, we discover that in Bermuda if you sell your car before five years of ownership, you must wait another year before purchasing a new one . . . If it is any consolation to your dog, most fleas are eyeless . . . According to a recent study over 32 per cent of our citizens have difficulty seeing sleep. Also disclosed was the fact that the production of sleeping pills increased from less than 400 tons in 1948 to more than 4,000 tons last year . . .

The rise in sleeping pill sales is indicative of the fact that thousands are losing sleep . . . but, psychologists tell us that most of it is absolutely unnecessary. Don't let it happen in regard to your insurance coverage . . . let STURHAHN, DICKENSON & BERNARD, 153 Chambers Street, handle that worry for you . . . it's our business. Phone 921-8830. "Always Remember Fair Claim Settlement is Our Most Important Product."

TOWN TOPICS is not fully distributed throughout the Princeton community and nearby towns until truck and post office deliveries have been made Thursday morning.

The owner of this house, however, said that he began receiving inquiries early Wednesday afternoon, when copies of TOWN TOPICS are first available at its office and appear on the newsstands. "The house was rented by 6 o'clock Wednesday," the advertiser reported.

He didn't say how many calls he received because he came to our office first thing Thursday to pay for the ad and cancel his original request to have it run again.

The man who advertised this car: 1968 CHRYSLER, 4-door sedan, straight eight. A real classic. One owner. 466-2387. A deal. had asked us to check with him to see if he wanted the ad repeated.

"I sold the car," he said, "and I should have put in another telephone to handle all the calls."

It's reports like these that have made TOWN TOPICS the leader in classified advertising year after year. The number to call is 924-2200.

A DECEPTIVE DOLLHOUSE

At first glance this white-shuttered Cape Cod looks made for a pair of dolls. It may be that if there are any house-hunting busybodies around, but a real guy deserves it. It is. There are seven rooms in all, and every one, with the exception of a downstairs bedroom or den, is good-sized. Surable and numerous too, are the closet and storage area (two double bedrooms upstairs have walk-ins the width of the rooms).

Living-dining room with self framed fireplace and three wet exposure, sunny bright kitchen with eating area, good working study with a bookshelf wall, two baths, shutter or shutter collar round out the spare, and it's all private.

The outside fits right in with the house — appealing, small but bigger than it looks, fairly secluded and "made the most of." Screen fencing with winding vines through it gives privacy to the terrace, while raised gardens on different levels are supported by stone walls — an enchanting effect. The location is good too: a pretty small street on the edge of the Borough within a stone's throw of the busline.

ANTIQUE HEATING NOW!

This elegant relic reminds us of by-gone days. Be elegant, better your days ahead with total electric home heating.

generally, but not always used on outside walls WHEN they are used, some models of wall heaters according to a utility company's consumer information sheet, are so designed that they depend on air movement for heat distribution. But it doesn't have to be a wall heater on your outside walls. In fact, the electrical baseboard is extremely popular having long since proven its effectiveness under windows as well as elsewhere.

Q. What is the right time of year for converting to electric heat? I'd thought only the summer was right, but friends of ours say the winter is the time.

A. As far as we're concerned, anytime and the sooner the better... which is far from being as flip as it sounds. Our own reasoning, and re-construction was done in the winter. We lived in the house the whole time with only slight shivering-around nuisance until the job was done.

The reason for "sooner" is pure economics. The value of your house goes up, in an equity sense as well as comfort quotient, as soon as the upgrading to an electric system has been completed. Costs, however, mount each year. Hence, the sooner you start, the more you save in the long run. Unless there is something unusual about the state of your personal finances, you'll find this is the kind of home improvement banks readily clear loans for.

Q. Because of a job change we've just moved East and are planning to build ourselves a home here as close to the three-year-old electrically-heated house we had to sell. Now in going over the specifications, I've lost. Last time for instance the chart specified that ceiling insulation should consist of 6 inches of mineral wool. Now it's "R-19."

A. Time, not distance, accounts for the change. The "R" for "installed resistance" has been adopted as a more precise measurement.

If You Are Planning To Build, Buy or Remodel Call Any One Of The Contractors Listed Below. He'll Give You All The Facts On Total Electric Home Heating.

WOODS AND A BROOK . . . this fine home has all the seduction for outdoor living that Nature, in her most kindly mood, can provide. Indoors, there is central air-conditioning, a living room with fireplace, a dining room, a nice kitchen with plenty of room for breakfast, a very large family room with powder room nearby, an oversized 2-car garage, 4 bedrooms and 2 baths. $39,500

RIVERSIDE . . . in this lovely neighborhood of fine homes, one with 4 bedrooms, 2 baths and a powder room for under forty is hard to find living room with fireplace, separate dining room, screened porch, and most welcome all during Summer, a beautiful garden for your family and your guests to enjoy. $39,900

A VIEW OF THE LAKE . . . is only one of the attractions of this fine residence. There is a big living room and fireplace, and a balcony leading to 3 large bedrooms (one so large it could easily be a 2nd and 2nd bath). Downstairs a separate dining room, large kitchen with breakfast space, family room with bar and powder room, maid's room, laundry, 2-car garage. Outdoors, on this wooded lot, is the heavenly asset of Summer — a big beautiful swimming pool with clear blue water, and a fenced yard for sun-bathing. Immediate occupancy $55,500

LOW TAXES . . . here is a charming little house in perfect condition. In a neighboring community, at the end of a quiet street in a park-like setting. Living room with fireplace, sunny kitchen, 2 bedrooms $21,000

Master bedroom with dressing room and bath. 2 other bedrooms, study (which could be a guest room) and bath. 3-car garage and workshop. This beautiful residence also has a fenced yard for privacy, with many fine fruit trees. $55,000

WESTERN SECTION . . . on two beautiful acres off the main highway. And now that the splendor of its shade trees arching over this lovely home provides the perfect background for its professional landscaping of laurel, rhododendrons and andromeda, you will see why this is, perhaps, our favorite dwelling. 3 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, a beautiful family room which could be another bedroom. Use of swimming pool and tennis courts. However, none of these mere facts can convey the aura of sheer beauty that makes this home so precious. $66,500
